RESTAURANT DESIGN

Restaurant Design Studio, Winter 2025

Location: Kelowna, British Columbia

Area: 2178 s.f.

Mission: To design a hyperlocal, farm to form restaurant with a focus on creating community. Given the floor plan- everything from research, restaurant type, logo design, concept, integration, and design was done to bring the vision of 'renewal' to this project.

Gather is a restaurant focused on creating and engaging community on all levels from design, food sourcing, to patron participation in long table dining.

Notable features of this restaurant design to highlight sustainability and community include:

- Topographical ceiling light of the Okanagan Valley which Kelowna and this restaurant is situated in
- Topography maps carved into host stand millwork and bar
- Second floor mezzanine built for a dedicated aerponic grow towers, and planter boxes
- Long bench community style dining section
- Large plush circular booths to encourage conversation, and privacy at the same time

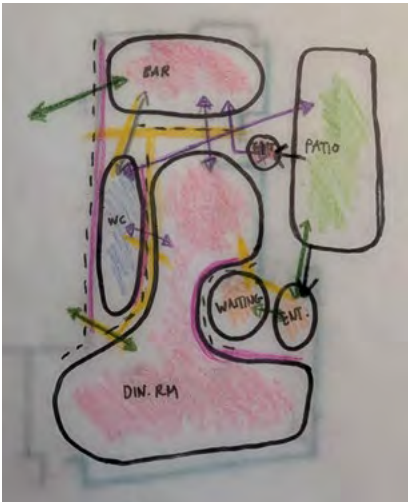

Community Dining Room: Note the hyper local concept with plant boxes outside. You can see long wooden community bench style seating to encourage conversation and communal style dining. View of the ceiling show the light topography map through the whole restaurant.

Concept: Renewal. The renewal dining experience takes you back to the basics to connect with the land and food, and to connect with your neighbours and community. You will see this reflected in the establishment by consuming local foods, in the food grown on site, the decor, and the type of dining offered.

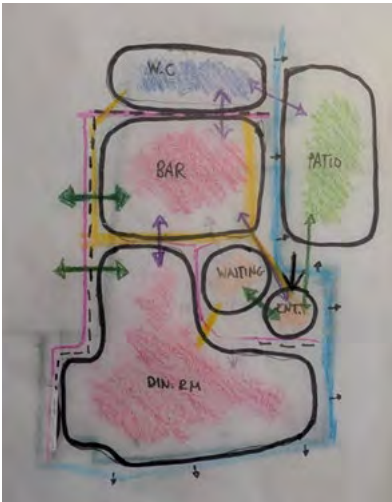

Integration: The decor expresses moving out of darkness into something lighter, lush, and sustainable; moving from isolation into a community. It features a community space to dine as well as a separate area for more private occasions. To help with the hyper local dining- the restaurant will feature food growing towers on the second level.

HEALTH CARE DESIGN

Healthcare Design Studio, Spring 2025

Location: Barrie, Ontario

Area: 376 s.m.

Mission: To design a second floor small health care clinic in an existing medical building. Family physician Dr. Smith and holistic mental health practitioner Dr Jacobson are creating a collaborative practice that blends science of traditional medicine with spiritual and holistic approaches towards mental health.

Notable features of this clinic design to emphasis the seven principles of universal design, and human centered design practices:

- signage for everyone- door names, logo names, instructions will all be written in english, iconography, braille, and have a light colour associated with it.
- ceiling design that leads you around the clinic. Flowing ceiling LED lights that change colour will lead you to the second of the clinic you design- Red wing is for mental health, Blue for physician, and yellow is for auxillary spaces.
- The reception room will have room for multiple chair types: armless chairs, armchairs, bariatric chairs, soft seating, and a special seperate section for those who require added space buffer while waiting.
- Texture-there are fully textured 3D lasered into wood to bring in the calming, grounding element of nature, and give the eye something to rest on to calm the nervous system.
- Light- plays a fundamental element in helping entertain, distract, and guide patients in the clinic from built in LED colour changing in the patient room ceiling,to apply layered lighting to ensure safety and proper working light is in place for everyone.

Welcoming reception area: a circular reception desk with soffit ceiling allows privacy for desk conversations and the ability to for receptionists to monitor the whole area.

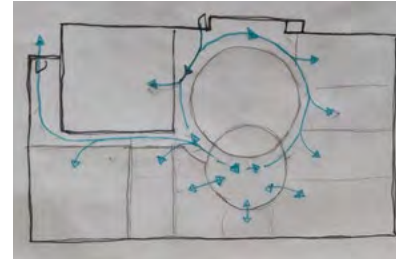

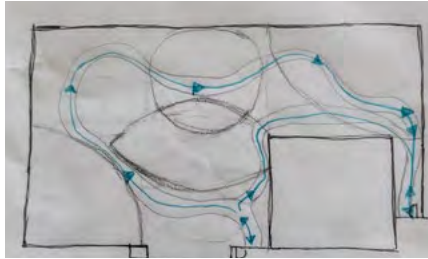

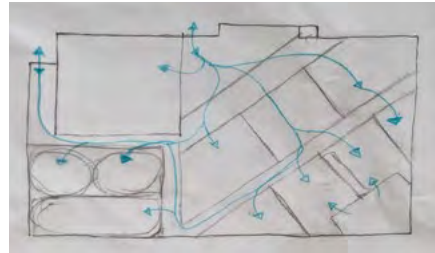

Concept: Odyssey. Sometimes navigating healthcare is a journey- or shall we say- an odyssey. This clinic is a multidiciplinary medical clinic that wants to take that long term health journey with you.

Integration: The decor will be light and up beat but draw from nature. There are special sensory features built it to accommodate persons with diverse needs through their life time. Every detail from the ceiling to the texture on the wall was considered to help patient along their odyssey.

CORPORATE DESIGN

Corporate Workspace Design Studio, Summer 2025

Location: Toronto, Ontario

Area: 2 Floors- 17,508 s. f.

Mission: To design a two floor office space for a software company. The design goal for this project is to create an innovative work environment that stimulates interaction and enhances opportunities for collaboration.

Notable features of this workspace design to emphasize the innovative work environments and human centered design:

- casual gathering spaces to promote social engagement on both levels
- biophilic design through the space including a real rock wall feature in the lobby
- sit to stand work desks at all work stations
- acoustic control through textured wall and ceiling finishes.
- modular furniture in cubicle environments to adjust to more or less employees
- open central staircase to encourage open, visible spaces and a health, quick alternative to the elevator.
- sustainable material choices
- ADA and code compliant circulation and work spaces
- Variety of seating on both levels
- Integrated LED layered lighting in all rooms

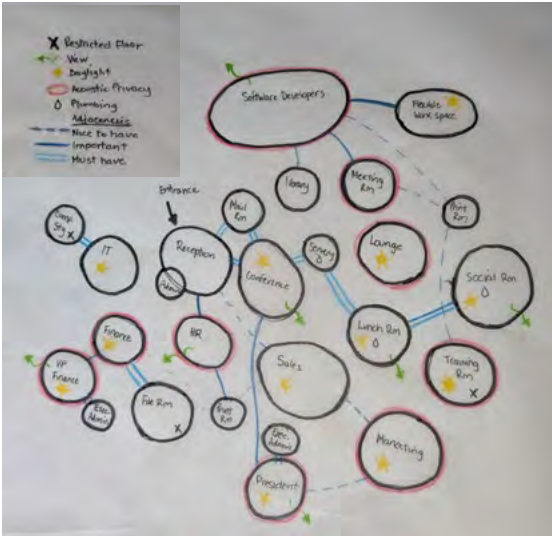

Custom reception desk design and reception space. This custom reception desk is the first thing you see as you enter from the elevator. It is fully accessible and incorporates universal design. It is high lighted by pendant ceiling lights to the back drop of a floor to ceiling rock wall formation.

Concept: Canadian Shield. Wanting to reflect Ontario in its new headquarters while honoring the values the company, the concept of "Canadian Shield" was a natural fit. The Canadian Shield is an ancient rock formation from Precambrian times. Unity and the Canadian Shield embody respect for the local environment, solid foundation, timeless existence, and nature. Within the Canadian Shield it holds a bio diverse landscape with holds space for all- thick and thin, chaos and calm, light and dark, rigid and flexible. It represents a stable, timeless, organic, grounded platform for focused innovation and collective creativity. It is defined by rock, forest, and freshwater.

Integration: This theme will show up in beautiful bold natural materials and textures, organic forms, clean lines, with diverse yet harmonious furnishings, and lighting by prioritizing diffused natural light to as many office spaces as possible.

DESIGN PHILOSOPHY

Communication. Integrity. Creativity.
Professional. Unique. Personalized.
Local. Illuminating. Sustainable. Grass
Roots. Artisan. Out of the box.
Passion.

I value sustainability, creativity, and communication. I am able to incorporate these values in many ways with design to create harmonious, curated, well lit spaces for every client. As we move along the design journey- I treat lighting as not just a necessary functional thing but a beautiful thing taking a space to new levels.

Thank you. Look forward to hearing from you.
